Core Decore success also extends from its dealers in Tamilnadu, plus an extensive network of dealers in other states within South India.

FOCUS ON PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT AND INNOVATION

Functional door design goes hand-in-hand with a wide range of architectural styles, and Core Decore's goal is to be the architect's preferred choice when it comes to challenging new construction and refurbishment of existing buildings. Core Decore Flush Doors are simple interior and exterior doors that feature plain facings on both sides of the construction. While the flush door is more closely associated with function rather than style, this plain sort of door lends itself well to a number of room design where the desire is to highlight other elements in the space. Doors of this type may have a solid or hollow core. The typical flush door is manufactured by using two sections of plywood that are attached to each side of a wooden frame, while the interior of the door is made of solid hardwood blocks.

Core Decore Flush Doors made of 100% seasoned hardwood and pressed high pressure with superior Phenol formaldehyde to intensify its inner strength.
